Joe Welch, Hebrew impersonator, will lead next week's bill at the Grand. The Micarte Sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Watrous, Homer Mason and company, Clayton, Jasper and Jenkins, Miss Angie Norton, Roberts, Hayes and Roberts, Collins and Ma-dell and Charles Kenna will also be in the list.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Park.

A production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Park Theater has almost enough variety to be called a circus. It will disappoint any one seeking to see Mrs. Stowe's story in dignified dramatization, but pleases the people that habitually crowd the Park. Yesterday's audiences took the grievous scenes just as seriously as if they were not sandwiched between cakewalking and songs and dances. None of the acting is good and the escape of Eliza, the death of Uncle Tom and the other incidents of the tale are played perfunctorily and noisily. Legree stabs St. Clair and as he dies a crowd of negroes around him drags out a

Immediately after the reuniting of George and Eliz Harris there is a cakewalk and just before Uncle Tom is sold to Legree a company of jubilee singers takes a turn. At other places in the play poorly-trained children dance and sing-thus the old story, which once had honor, has come to be nothing more than connections of the parts of a variety show. Al W. Martin's newest elaboration is a "voodoo scene," which ocours in the fourth act. The play closes with pictures entitled "The Whipping Post," "Pickett's Charge at Gettysburg." "Emancipation," "Rock of Ages" and "Celestial City."

New Play in New York.

"Mrs. Jack," the new play by Grace Livingstone Furniss put on at Wallack's Theater, New York, by Miss Alice Fischer and her company, seems, from the criticisms, to be old-fashioned and to call for a variety of characterization. Miss Fischer, who was a Terre Haute girl, impersonates a breezy, generous widow; Jacques Kruger, who was with May Irwin last season, has the part of a broken actor; Thomas Evans. acted the tout in William Collier's "Mr. Smooth," plays a Bowery prize fighter that cures black eyes after inflicting them. The characters are loosely assembled, and the play is shallow.

The last opera written by Sir Arthur Sullivan was "The Emerald Isle," and it he did not finish. It was taken up after his death by Edward German, an English composer, and completed according to Sir Arthur's plan. Now it is being sung at the will be a company Sunday evening, which Herald-square Theater, New York, by a Miss McIntosh will give. Monday evening company led by Jefferson de Angelis. The Mrs. W. C. De Pauw will give a brakeride opera is received with delight, judging to the Country Club for them. Tuesday rom the newspapers, and the music, of Irish character, is so much better than that | will entertain at dinner in their honor and of any American musical comedy or comic opera that one wonders how one applauded the home-made shows. This is rather silly when one takes to mind that there are scores of light operas by German, Italian, French and Viennese composers the music of which is so far above the American brand that it is out of sight, and that these operas easily could be adapted for use in this country.

"The Mummy and the Hummingbird." NEW YORK, Sept. 4 .- John Drew opened his annual engagement at the Empire Theater to-night in the four-act play entitled "The Mummy and the Hummingbird," by Isaac Henderson. It is a social problem play which has had a long run in ndon, where the leading role was taken by Charles Wyndham, but was given its first production in this country to-night. The story is that of a scientific man so immersed in his research that unwittingly he becomes neglectful of his wife, who is infatuated with an Italian intriguer, a part taken by Guy Standing. After bringing out a number of interesting situations the play works out to the usual happy confusion. The part of Lord Lumley, taken by Mr. Drew, while not lacking in comedy opportunities, proved stronger than some of his more recent characters.

REMARKABLE GROWTH OF LOCAL INSURANCE ORGANIZATION.

Agents from Thirty-Three States the Union Sit Down to a Banquet -Interesting Facts.

The State Life Insurance Company began the round of its entertainment for its visiting agents last night in celebration of its eighth anniversary with a banquet at the Columbia Club. One of the first and the largest delegations to appear in the city was the one from Kansas, which came in Wednesday night. The Kansans were all decked out with sunflowers and wore immense sombreros. Since then agents have been arriving from thirty-three States and at the table last evening over seventyfive were seated. The agents are an exceptionally fine-looking body of men. Each one of the agents has written at least $70 .-000 of insurance in the year 1902, and some of them have placed insurance for over $130,000. The remarkable progress of the company can in a great measure be attributed to its judgment in selecting men of the caliber shown by the band present in the city. The company has a competitive contract with its agents whereby each agent who writes $50,000 or more of paidfor insurance a year gets a bonus above his commission and an annuity for his women, and the world will realize this more old age, and an endowment maturing every year he produces $100,000 of paid-for insurance. The agents who participted in these benefits the last year are Peter Metsuffrage written, compiled by Mrs. Ida ford, C. N. Coverdale, H. G. Bennett, George W. Ryan, D. Fault, J. M. the visitors will be taken on a trolley ride over the city, and in the evening they will attend a theater party at the Grand Opera House, which will end the festivities, most of the agents from a distance leaving for home to-morrow morning. A REMARKABLE CAREER.

The men are justly proud of being connected with the State Life, which has made the most remarkable record of any life insurance company in existence. Starting from nothing eight years ago, it has now over $37,000,000 of insurance on its books; its gain in ledger assets during the year 1902 has been about $225,000, while last year the gain for the corresponding months was about $85,000. The insurance written this year shows a gain of over $100,000 a month as compared with last year; and yesterday morning Secretary Wynn placed in the hands of the auditor of state over $257,000, making a total of over $1,000,000 on deposit, which is $300,000 more than is required by law. This record for eight years is not equaled by that of any company in the United States or Europe. pany was originated by Andrew M. Sweeney, president, Samuel Quinn, vice president, and Wilbur S. Wynn, secretary and actuary. At the time of the organization of the company Mr. Sweeney was clerk of the Supreme Court, and the two others were hustling life insurance men. After getting the idea of forming a company Mr. Quinn and Mr. Wynn sought out Mr. Sweeney as the man necessary to furnish stability to the company. That their choice was well founded is shown by the wonderwas in one small room of the Lemcke build ing, and the three organizers comprised the moters soon established the business on a firm footing, and their office force was increased by the addition of a stenographer, and later others were called in until the

Mr. Coffin, the general counsel of the company, in response to the toast, "The State Life," traced the history of the company from its beginning, giving some of its early struggles. He called attention to the fact that prior to September, 1894, there was no reputable local company doing a life insurance business in Indiana. This was due chiefly to the oppressive laws of the State | big corporation of Putnam and Montgomery which necessitated the formation of com-panies under the assessment plan. The State Life started out as an assessment company, with all the odium attached to the name "assessment." The three men who constituted the company after three days of business had no money in reserve. and not a single person written for insurment the company has insurance to the due to the fact that while it was founded under unsafe laws it had safe men behind it. Safe laws did not make safe insurance: but it was a good thing to have safe laws and safe insurance men back of them. He contrasted ten of the leading companies with the State Life in regard to their positions at the close of the year 1901. Tuese ten companies had an average age of fiftythree years; the State Life was only eight years old; these companies had average assets amounting to $23,000,000; the State Life had assets of $1,000,000; yet the State Life could show insurance for the same year of $12,000,000, equaling the amount insured on the average by these same companies. Mr. Hart, auditor of state, in responding to the toast, "Insurance that Insures.

mentioned the fact that not one man in one hundred went into the business of investing in life insurance with the same care that he took in investing in real estate, and he laid much of the prejudice against insurance as a shady financial scheme to the fact that no care was used in finding out the true standing of the company. He pointed out that while Indiana was once the paradise of wild-cat insurance companies, its laws were now of the best and were copied in six States. He urged that it should be made a penal offense to sell shyster insurance, and showed that the middle West was the field for the great insurance companies in the future, among which companies he expected the State Life to take a prominent part. Other responses were: "A Word of Welcome." Andrew M. Sweeney: "Indiana's Insurance Laws," Hon. William L. Taylor; "Our Home Folks," Dr. Henry C. Martin; "The Board of Directors," Judge Robert W. Mr. Winn expects to live to see the time when his policy with the State Life will be framed as a memento of the beginning of the company, since he is now only thirty-seven years old.

HOTEL LOBBY GLEANINGS

DAVID E. SHERRICK RETURNS FROM A TRIP TO THE EAST.

He Has Become an Admirer of Capt. Hobson-Visitors at the Local Hotels.

"I've become a great admirer of Captain Hobson," said David E. Sherrick, Republican candidate for state auditor, who weeks' trip East. The most of the time he was away he spent at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. He was with Mrs. Sherrick, who returned much improved in health. At Mountain Lake Park there was. a Chautauqua society, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherrick spent a good deal of time at these meetings. They listened to William Jennings Bryan and to Captain Hobson, among other speakers. Mr. Sherrick thinks Bryan is not quite so radical as of old, or rather his speeches do not contain the impassioned utterances that once characterized them. "I heard some excellent speakers while I was there," said Sherrick, "and I believe that of all the able efforts I heard Hobson's pleased me most. I talked to a man who for years had been a professor at the United States Naval Academy, and he rememebred Hobson's career when the son was a leader in Y. M. C. A. work in Cummun, Miss Rolatter was in school. He told me that Hobthe school and that notwithstanding many of the boys in the school were inclined to cut' him because of his religious nature he stuck to his work. I was much impressed with his manly way and his sound and forceful utterances. While East Mr. Sherrick spent some time n Washington. Albert W. Wishard, solioitor of internal revenue, informed him that after Oct. 10 he expected to get away long enough to take part in the Indiana campaign. He also said that Mr. Robb, one of the assistants to the attorney general, would come to Indiana to do some campaigning. Mr. Sherrick will have his headquarters at the Denison during the campaign. Within a few days he will start on a trip through some of the districts to chat with the "boys." He will probably take part in the speaking campaign later.

FRANK B. POSEY IN TOWN.

He Predicts a Great Victory for Representative Hemenway.

"They can dump all the money they want in the First district this year, but all this money and all the king's horses and all the king's men can't elect John W. Spencer to Congress." This was the observation of Frank B. Posey, of Evansville, one of Hudsall, Miss Mary the best-known attorneys and Republican politicians of Indiana, who was at the Denison Hotel last night. Mr. Posey came in from Randolph county, where he assisted in the dedicatory exercises at a new school building yesterday. "There is no need to be alarmed about Hemneway," Mr. Posey continued, "for he will be elected by a good, safe majority. If the election were held to-morrow I am satisfied he would carry every county in the district. I believe that when the election is held Hemenway will carry every county, with the possible exception of Posey coun-He will carry Warrick county this year, which he has not been able to do before. It has been a sort of home pride with the Democrats to beat Hemenway in his own county. But he will carry it this year all right enough. Mr. Posey says the Republicans of Evansville will not have the formal opening of the campaign on the 20th, but will wait a few days. It is likely that Senator Beveridge will open the campaign at Evansville. Mr. Posey will speak Bloomington on the 20th. The state committee received a request to assign him "I've spoken there so much," said he last night, "that it's got to be embar-rassing. Capt. Scott's Instructions.

Capt. W. S. Scott, of the United States army, who has been staying at the Hotel English for several months, received orders from the department yesterday to take charge of the quartermaster's depot at Jeffersonville, temporarily, and during the absence of Colonel Marshall, who has been in charge there. THE WONDER OF THE AGE

The "Omega" Odorless Gas Stove

Marks a revolution in gas heating and household sanitation. Perfect combustion is secured by the generation of intense heat and the thorough mixing progressively of the gas supply with air, by which it is possible to use at least forty-five cubic feet of air to every cubic foot of gas. Its operation combines three important and indispensable factors-economy in fuel, perfect combustion, sterilization. In the "OMEGA" they are the result of mechanical combinations produced as the result of extensive scientific research. On exhibition and for sale by
